Address to the Members of the Graduating Class, Prin. Edgar Wood Awarding of Diplomas

The Lake..... Franz Abt Wake to the Hunting..... Henry Smart Normal School Chorus

Largest Class. The hall was elaborately decorated with male, palm branches, flags and pennants, the platform being banked with pepper, daisies and asters. The graduating class of thirty-seven, the largest in the history of the school, sat on the platform with Principal Edgar Wood, Superintendent of Public Instruction Pope and Dr. Doremus Scudder, the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Pope gave a brief statement of the need for teachers. He spoke of the great demand there is from all the islands for graduates of the Normal School and how, notwithstanding the large number graduated each year, it is necessary to send to the mainland for more.

Mr. Wood before beginning his address stated some interesting facts concerning the history of the Normal School. Reports from the Supervising Principals to the Department concerning the work of those who have attended the school have been most encouraging. Then he spoke to the class of the real reason we attend school, to learn to behave, to receive a training which will enable us to meet all conditions with the necessary mental and moral equipment. He closed with some valuable information on dealing with the child, in order to get the best from him.

Dr. Scudder spoke. Dr. Doremus Scudder gave an excellent and inspiring talk on the cultural effects of the proper use of the English language, warning the class against the slovenliness of slang and all incorrect forms of speech.

A prize was awarded by the Conversation Club to a member of the Junior Class, John Teixeira, for doing the best bandaging in a recent competition in the class under the direction of a nurse from Palama.

A particular feature of the evening was the excellent chorus work done by the school under the leadership of Miss Jane Winne, supervisor of music. A chorus of 150 voices opened the exercises with a difficult selection well rendered both as to tone quality and interpretation. The girls' glee club gave its two selections with much finish and a double sextet of girls sang Macdowell's "Summer Wind" with far more intelligence than is usually heard from a school chorus.

A great deal of credit is due Miss Winne for the remarkable success in her year's work in the Normal School. She will be much missed next year when she transfers all her efforts to the grades of the public schools.

TURRILL SPENDS CHICKEN FEED

Tax Collector Digs Up Five Cents Every Time He Nabs an Untagged Bicycle

Fred. Turrill, chicken fancier, the genial tax collector who gets five cents every time he nabs an untagged bicycle, was getting 'em in large quantities this morning.

Mr. Turrill is the official bicycle sleuth now, it having devolved upon him to check up on the bicycles for which no license tags have been issued. He was gathering them in right and left this morning, and as fast as gathered they were sent to the tax office, where they piled up so fast it looked like a second-hand shop.

However, Turrill's triumphs did not cause him to leap with over-joy. The reason was not far to seek. Turrill couldn't take each bicycle on a personally-conducted trip to the tax office, and he couldn't ride along with a flock of them. So he hired boys to ride the bicycles down to the tax office and leave them there. Each boy got five cents.

The result was that by 10 o'clock Turrill had been digging up five-cent pieces so rapidly that temporary destitution stared him in the face, and he was beginning to wonder if he would have to pay a nickel for every untagged cycle in Honolulu.

"I'm losing money by this," he said, and the fact was evident. Turrill's generosity will cost him dear.

F. B. Kingsley, grand lecturer knight of the Elks, died at his home in Kansas City of heart failure. He was 56 years old.

GEN. MACOMB IS WITH ARTILLERY

General Macomb went to Schofield Barracks this morning to be present at what is technically known as the critique of the last Field Artillery target practise. This is a meeting of the officers called to listen to and discuss the comments of the artillery authorities on the firing. At the conclusion of the practise last fall a voluminous report of the proceedings was sent to the artillery school at Fort Sill. There it was criticized point by point by artillery experts, and it now comes back for discussion so that the officers here may profit by their mistakes. On the whole, though, the showing made by the First was creditable.

The field artillery doesn't merely plug away at a target when it shoots for records, conditions being different from any other arm of the service in respect. Every practise is a problem, supposed to be worked out under war conditions, against a theoretical enemy, and therefore there are many considerations in the result besides straight shooting. The selection of position for going into action, range-finding service, methods and speed of determining the range, rapidity of fire, number of rounds fired, cutting of scrapes, concealment of guns and animals, accuracy, and a dozen other points are taken into consideration.

Last year's shooting showed a marked improvement over that of the year before, when there was only one battery at Schofield and no field officer to direct the practise.

The efficiency of the Liliha garrison as a fire-fighting organization was shown Sunday, when a grass fire that might have destroyed the entire post was extinguished by cavalry, artillery and infantry, working side by side. The fire started in the gulch back of the cavalry cantonment, and proved such a tough proposition that a general alarm had to be sounded.

The First Infantry Camp, Spanish War veterans, held its first meeting on Hawaiian soil at Schofield Barracks, Sunday, when members of Theodore Roosevelt Camp of this city were the guests of honor. An enjoyable smoker was given at the Fifth Cavalry exchange. There are now 109 members in the First Regiment Camp.

LOST LIFE AND WAGER. Arthur Kaahoon was drowned in Lake Acquin, Mont., in a vain attempt to win a forty-dollar wager that he could swim from the middle of the sheet of water to shore with 10-pound dumbbells tied to his ankles. He perished while three boatloads of people looked on.

SOCIAL STUDY IS TO BE ORGANIZED

Public Spirited Men and Women Would Better Local Conditions

To study social conditions here and to organize a systematic campaign to check social evils, a meeting of prominent public-spirited citizens was held last evening at the home of Mrs. Geo. R. Carter. The meeting, which has been planned for some days, developed into the launching of a Social Survey movement, having as its aim the organization of a body of men and women who will study Honolulu's social conditions and point the way to remedy those which are deleterious to public welfare.

The presence of Miss Frances Blascoer, the expert social worker, added no small amount of interest to the meeting and in an informal talk Miss Blascoer made a number of valuable suggestions. Conditions among dependent mother and children and child-tranny conditions are two of the phases upon which she touched.

Miss Ida Pope called the meeting to order and George W. Smith acted as chairman, with Judge W. L. Whitney as secretary. The following committees were announced:

Work of the Survey—George W. Smith, chairman; Judge W. L. Whitney, secretary; E. Faxon Bishop, Dr. W. C. Hobdy, Miss Ida Pope, Mrs. W. F. Dillingham, J. R. Galt, George R. Carter, Miss Louise Gulick, Attorney General Alexander Lindsay.

Legal Aid, Attorney General Lindsay, chairman; Finance, Mrs. Fred. Macfarlane, Employment, E. Faxon Bishop, chairman; Press, Dr. W. C. Hobdy, chairman; Dependent Children, Mrs. W. F. Dillingham, chairman; Social Evil, J. R. Galt, chairman; Family Budgets, Miss Louise Gulick, chairman; Housing, George R. Carter, chairman.

These chairmen will select the other members of the committees from volunteers.

Superintendent Rath of Palama Settlement in the course of a talk said: "There are three phases of the work to be investigated: (1) housing conditions; (2) family budgets, the cost of living; (3) the social evil. We need to solicit the cooperation of all businessmen, the mechanics, and every citizen in this important work. To thoroughly investigate the causes of present social evils and then study them with a view to cure them is the aim of this campaign."

Other speakers were Bishop Libert, Fred. Macfarlane, E. F. Bishop, Doctor Scudder, Rev. W. R. Olson, J. R. Galt and Miss Frances Lawrence.

SINGLE-PIECE BATHING SUITS BARRED FOR WOMEN

SPRINGFIELD, June 4. — Women who wear Continental costumes or one-piece bathing-suits will be barred from the public bathing beach at Water-shops Pond. This edict issued today is the cause of pronounced disapproval on the part of the members of the women's swimming classes who have been acquiring proficiency in water sports in the Stevens Memorial Institute in Ludlow.

Some of Springfield's most popular young women are enrolled in the swimming classes, and in most instances they have adopted the style of costume used by a popular vaudeville performer. The young women maintain that skirts are a serious drawback to diving or graceful swimming.

Director Metzendorf concedes the handicap, but says that the mixed crowd makes it necessary to enforce the rule. Last year continental costumes were permitted and several women appeared in men's bathing suits, sleeveless.

Mr. Metzendorf says that the women may wear continental costumes under skirts, and may remove the skirts after they have reached water of some depth. The women are wondering whether barrels will be provided for those of their number whose skirts cannot be found when they wish to leave the water.
